THE PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.

An Organization For the Purpose of Elevating Future Citizenship. [Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, June 18 .- The first chapter of the Patriotic league has been organized and chartered within the past few weeks. The first issue of its monthly organ, My Country, will soon appear.

The first step toward the league's formation was taken on July 4, 1891, when Mr. Wilson L. Gill caused pamphlets advocating a movement of the sort to be scattered far and wide. He held then and holds now that the political salvation of our country lies with the rising generation, and that to them we must look for reform. The pamphlet urged the necessity for considering this question and the advan-

The league proposes to instruct all members in American history and politics, to present for study such subjects as will send forth citizens cognizant of the laws, our constitution and our government, to interest the young people in their country and to so educate them as to raise the standard of citizenship and to give us in time intelligent, well equipped

Any duly authorized person may organize a chapter of not less than ten members who shall apply for a charter and agree to pursue the course of study laid down.

It is proposed, as matters develop, to arrange a system not unlike that of Chauauqua and to provide a home or center change firm at $4.884 for demand, and $4.

The course of study requires three years. It will be entirely included in the magazine, and awards and diplomas will be given upon a written examination. The very best talent is engaged in preparing articles on the given subjects, and there is every reason to hope for a speedy spread of enthusiasm and a development of the society on such a basis as will yield entirely satisfactory results.

The first number of My Country bears upon its index page such names as Edward Everett Hale, Josiah Strong, D. D., Dr. F. U. Thorpe, Charles F. Dole and Professor Woodburn of the Chinasa de-Indiana. The subjects are treated de-Behtfully and may truly be said to interest old and young alike. The prospectus states that "the course will comprise two general divisions-first, a series of brief historical readings covering the principal features of our nation's story. These will be written especially for the league in picturesque and attractive style, making clear the steps by which we have reached our present proud position among the nations and pointing out the distinguishing features of our governmental plan. There will be furnished monthly sketches of the life and work of typical characters of each period, the whole to form what may be called the Hero series. These will be accompanied by a series of 'Letters to Young Americans,' explanatory of the actual workings of the machinery of govarnment now in operation among us. Besides this there will be provided reading sides this there will be provided reading for those who have time and disposition to go further than the course contemplates." It is calculated that 10 or 15 minutes careful study each day will be severally study each day will be s to go further than the course contemall that is required to accomplish the task in the given time, so that no regular school work will be infringed upon, and no great tax will be imposed.

In addition to the badge of the league it is proposed to have caps designed for boys Be Sure to get HOOD'S and who may wish to organize regiments or who may wish to organize regiments or The one great fundamental object of the league is to interest young people, and as boys love drill and military taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla.
